N.E.A.C. Network of European Alimentery Culture

The project is based on the assumption that table manners, likes and dislikes through their formation reflect a vivid image of society. Food seen as an anthropological paradigm of society, can be analysed from a variety of viewpoints: art, literature, science, music, sociology a repertoire, which has as its objective to highlight the complexity of European food culture acknowledging the present reality and value that food can assume. This project actively encourages the emergence of a European identity for children. Sharing ideas about good food from a local, regional and international perspective, makes this a very imaginative and attractive initiative for children, parents and teachers. It allows participating groups to open their minds and explore the cultural aspects of all European countries involved.

In fact, the theme of the network is European Alimentery Culture, and the work will focus on raising the awareness of the vital role of the regions in Europe within the context of European citizenship. The network will strive to highlight that a strong local/regional identity is essential and complementary to a strong European identity. Information on various aspects concerning different layers of identity and active citizenship will be collected and examined, results linked and translated into appropriate ICT-based innovative pedagogical and didactical approaches, tools, materials, courses and curricula enhancing the European dimension of school education on a regional level. Moreover, regional school authorities will be actively involved. New, ongoing and completed Comenius 1 and 2 projects on Network Area will be supported and emphasis on networking to ensure dissemination of results and sustainability.
